

Speaker at Laurel Hill

Ann Hunter McLean will be the main speaker at the JEB Stuart Civil War Encampment on Saturday Oct 5th. This weekend event held Oct 5th and 6th at Laurel Hill is located at 1091 Ararat Highway, Ararat Va. The topic, "Our Bronze Stars, where are they now", a report on the status of the statues of great Virginians begins at 12.30 PM. Ann grew up in Charlottesville and Lynchburg Virginia. She received her Bachelors of Arts in English Literature from Davidson College. She worked in New York at Sotheby's Art Auction House and later in journalism in Washington DC before returning to study Art and Architectural History at the University of Virginia earning her MA and Ph.D focusing on America from the Civil War through World War I. Ann founded Hunter Classical Christian School and served as Head of School till 2020. She currently serves as Vice Chair on The Virginia Council, whose mission is to preserve Virginia's history and craft a prosperous future for all Virginians. She is also on the Board of the Jefferson Council alumni free speech group at UVA. Ann and her husband Andy have four daughters and three grandchildren. Among her many interest she is passionate about accurate history. The JEB Stuart Trust urges the public to attend this important presentation. For more information visit www.jebstuart.org.